Los Angeles Herald

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

FRIDAY,.....MARCH 26, 1875.

THE DAILY HERALD closes its third volume with the issue of this morning.

THE San Francisco Chronicle thinks it a pity that means cannot be devised for punishing the knaves who invent and circulate false information regarding mines and mining stocks. So it is; yet we have read some very highly colored reports of that character in the Chronicle.

THE Mexican Legation at Washington has received information which goes to show that the Government was not responsible for the massacre of Protestants at Acapulco. The military commandant hastened to the scene to prevent a disturbance and was among the killed. The Mexican authorities claim that the murder was the work of fanatics and assert that the United States war vessel ordered to that port can do nothing more than has already been done.

AN up-country paper says the union of the Sacramento Union and Record is a strange marriage, and that the two papers lay with their backs to each other, each contemplating the best way to kick the other out of bed. The fight and fusion of these two papers reminds us of a story. Two friends, both a little elevated, went to bed in a room containing two beds; but, in the dark, both got into the same bed. In a little while one said to the other that there was some one in his bed, and received for an answer that so there was in his. "Let's kick 'em out," "Agreed!" Pretty soon one said, "I've kicked my fellow out." "That's good," was the response; "but my fellow's kicked me out." Something of this sort is the end of the kicking match between the Union and Record.

A Sound Sentiment.

On Monday last ANDY JOHNSON made a great speech in the Senate in favor of the restoration of the Constitution of our fathers, closing with the assurance to all that unless it was restored the country was gone—gone forever. He charged the Administration with a deliberate violation of the Constitution and the laws, and produced messages and documents to prove that the present condition of the South was due solely to the acts of those who desired to maintain themselves in power. He made a strong point against the President and his advisers by showing that SHERIDAN, who had once been repudiated by the people of Louisiana and with whose withdrawal and the substitution of HANCOCK came peace and quietude, had been sent back to those people with the power of an Emperor. However strong may be the argument against many of the positions taken by the Senator from Tennessee, we believe he is correct as to the true authors of the disturbances in the South, and the evidence is rapidly forthcoming that the great mass of the people are becoming convinced that the political aspiration of those in power is the heaven which has worked the formations in Louisiana and Arkansas. One thing is evident: the country is growing weary and distrustful of the Administration's policy toward the South. The masses are beginning to doubt the honesty of this Southern policy. After six years trial it has accomplished nothing toward restoring peace and harmony. Is it a matter of wonder that the people should begin to distrust a policy which could only show a six year's failure as the result of six years practice? It would seem that if a stilling of the troubled waters was the only purpose of the Administration, it would be only too ready to adopt some other plan in lieu of one which had increased rather than quieted the disturbance. But it refuses all offer of other means and declines to accept the services of other men. In doing this, the President has sown the seed of distrust and doubt as to the integrity of his purpose, the fruit of which is a fear on the part of the nation that his Southern policy is enforced more for the purpose of maintaining himself and supporters in power than the restoration of that peace, harmony and prosperity which the whole people so earnestly desire.

California Tobacco.

"C. W.," of Orange, writes to La Cronica an account of his efforts and failure at tobacco raising in this country. He did not fail in growing the tobacco, but he says he failed to grow an article which any one would purchase, and that after repeated efforts to sell his crop to the tobaccoists of San Francisco he was reluctantly forced to the conclusion that neither he nor any one else could grow good tobacco in California. Just here is where we are inclined to think "C. W." has made a mistake. He asserts that his tobacco looked well, but that it was deceptive—not as good as it appeared. He admits that among all the San Francisco cigar-makers only Chinamen would buy it, and they at figures far below the cost of production. But the points which our Orange tobacco grower seeks to make is that his tobacco was equal in quality to that grown anywhere and by any one in California, and that none of it is any account. This statement he makes on the authority of those San Francisco tobacco houses, ten in number, whom he visited for the purpose of disposing of his crop. We are inclined to the opinion that there is some truth in what these firms told him, though to say that no good tobacco has or can be grown in this State is to make an assertion which will hardly be borne out by the facts. We omit a great deal that might be said on the subject of seed and come to the important point that almost all the tobacco that has yet been produced in this State has been grown by experimentalists who have had no experience in a business which can only be successfully conducted by men of experience. The San Francisco houses are prejudiced against California tobacco, but it is a prejudice of profit, not of quality. The charge that all California grown tobacco is bitter is not true. It is doubtless true of the amateur product, grown from doubtful seed upon chance-selected soil. One can hardly find Gilroy tobacco in the shops of San Francisco and the retail dealers give as a reason that it is so dear no one will buy it. It would be nearer the truth if they would say, we do not keep Gilroy tobacco because it is pure tobacco and we cannot make the profit on it we can from the refuse and sweepings of the large tobacco houses of Virginia, which come out here nicely packed up and perfumed. Four-fifths of the tobacco smokers of California have become so accustomed to the use of those sweepings, that they do not know good tobacco from bad. They buy by the quantity, rather than quality. The Gilroy Company make no secret why they send their tobacco East; it is because they get a better price than here. We have no doubt but that the greater portion of the Gilroy tobacco comes back here and is sold and smoked as imported cigars. There has been good tobacco grown in Los Angeles valley. MR. PERKINS, an old tobaccoist, has grown an excellent article at Azusa, and good judges who tested the samples he exhibited in this city at the last fair, did not pronounce it bitter nor worthless. It is not everybody who can grow good tobacco, nor will all soil produce it; but it is the opinion, not of the newspapers, but of gentlemen whose experience entitles them to credence, that good tobacco can and will be grown in Los Angeles valley and many other portions of California. We hope "C. W." will try again, and with better success.

Responsibility of the Increased Postage Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 22d.—It appears that ex-Senator Ramsey is really responsible for the amendment to the Postal law which increases the postage on newspapers one cent per ounce, he having drawn the amendment and handed it to Hamilton, with request that he offer it. Hamilton did this, it is presumed, without stopping to think what the effect of the resolution was.

The New Hampshire Election.

CONCORD, N. H., March 22d.—The Democrat has a special from every town in the State, and figures up the result as follows: No choice of Governor by the people; total number of Representatives elected, 317; of which the Democrats have 181, and the Republicans 190, a majority of 9. At Paris, where about 31 votes were cast, the election was postponed till the following Saturday, when two Democratic Representatives were elected. It is claimed that this was illegal, and the Republicans claim that the two Representatives will probably be sent home. The Senate remains unchanged, 5 to 5.

Increase of Passenger Rates.

NEW YORK, March 24th.—The passenger rates on the Pacific Mail steamers have been raised to $138 for first-class passengers and $90 for emigrant. The managers think this will have a tendency to drive travel to the overland railroad. As an offset the railroads are to allow the Pacific Mail a certain sum on each passenger carried by them, besides chartering part of the freightage of each steamer.

Adjournment of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 24th.—The Senate adjourned at 5:45 P. M., the President having reported at 5:30 that he had no further communication to make to that body. After five hours debate, the Senate, by a vote of 25 to 15, laid the nomination of Pardee, as District Judge of Louisiana, on the table. This places the litigation in Louisiana in an embarrassing position, as the District Judge alone has jurisdiction in bankruptcy and admiralty, and the judgeship must remain vacant until the next session of Congress.

Killed by a Snow Slide.

SALT LAKE, March 24th.—By a snow slide to-day, twelve miles North of Brigham City, Utah, two men were killed.

Don Carlos Conscript.

BAYONNE, March 24th.—Don Carlos has issued a decree calling into his service all males in the province of Navarre over 15 years old.

Light on the Overend Murder.

SAN DIEGO, March 24th.—It is now believed that the mystery of the Overend murder is about to be solved upon the confession of Jose Acama, one of the convicted murderers, on the spot named Negro Montano, has been arrested and lodged in jail as the perpetrator of that horrible crime. The authorities believe they have sufficient evidence to convict him. He is one of the most impulsive and brutal looking specimens of humanity conceivable. Should he prove the right man it may clear up the mysterious crimes that have been committed in this country for the past six or seven years.

Accident or Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25th.—At nine o'clock last night, as the steamer Amador was being made fast to her berth at the Broadway wharf, William Cooper, for many years barkeeper on board that steamer, fell or jumped overboard and was drowned. The body was recovered and taken to the morgue. He was suffering from an attack of delirium tremens. He was a native of New York, and aged about forty years.

Suicide.

HOLLISTER, March 24th.—Francisco R. Bravo, a wealthy citizen of this county, committed suicide this afternoon at French's Hotel at this place, by shooting himself through the head. He left a note giving his age, name and religion, and stating in general terms that he had reasons for his rash act.

How to Treat Bad Boys.

Many years ago, in a country town in Massachusetts, a teacher saw a boy come into his school whom he knew to be one of the worst boys in town. He determined, if he could, to make a good boy of him, and he behaved well that day. The next morning the Prudential Committee (as he was called) came in and said: "Mr. Towne, I hear that bad fellow, Bill Marcy, has come to your school. Turn him out at once. He will spoil the rest of the boys." "No, sir," replied the teacher, "I will leave the school if you say so, but I cannot expel a boy so long as he behaves well." So he kept him and encouraged him, confided in him, till Bill Marcy became one of the best boys in school. And afterwards, when William L. Marcy came from Washington, he took pains to go and see his old teacher, Salem Towne, and thank him for having been the means of saving him and making him the man he was.

Don't Give Up, But Try.

A gentleman traveling in the Northern part of Ireland heard the voices of children and stopped to listen.

Finding the sound came from a small building used as a school house, he drew near; as the door was open he went in and listened to the words the boys were spelling.

One little fellow stood apart, looking very sad.

"Why does this boy stand here?" asked the gentleman.

"Oh, he is good for nothing," said the teacher. "There's nothing in him. He is the most stupid boy in the school."

The gentleman was surprised at this answer. He saw that the teacher was so stern and rough that the younger and more timid were nearly crushed. After a few words to them, placing his hands on the noble brow of the little fellow who stood apart, he said: "One of these days you may be a fine scholar. Don't give up; try, my boy, try."

The boy's soul was aroused. His sleeping mind awoke. A new purpose was formed. From that hour he became anxious to excel; and he did become a fine scholar and the author of a well-known commentary on the Bible, a great and good man, beloved and honored. It was Dr. Adam Clarke.

The secret of his success is well known: "Don't give up; but try, my boy, try."

School House Burned.

The school house in Auburn district, Sutter county, was burned last week. The loss in house, furniture and books is $1,500. It was probably set on fire by persons who sought lodging in it. Moral—Let all school houses be secure.

NEW TO-DAY.

A Great Revolution in Cigars and Tobacco.

The Revenue Tax has been raised on Cigars and Tobacco, making considerable difference in the price of the articles, but thanks to the enormous stock we have just purchased, we are able to supply our numerous customers at the old prices and cheaper than any one on this coast. The finest assortment of cigars, and good cigars, ever brought to this city. We make it a special business to satisfy all, and we can defy all competition, as we buy all our goods at the first market. Don't forget the "Identicals."
